New Methods, Much Money
4, Instead of 400,000
Dictatorship? We Have It
Guaranteed Deposits
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THE PRESIDENT says, "We have undertaken new methods," and we HAVE with a vengeance. "WE," meaning 123,000,000 Americans led by the President, will spend in the next six months, in various useful ways, one thousand million dollars a month, or at the rate of TWELVE BILLIONS of dollars a year.

Tom Reed, when Speaker of the House, yelled because the country spent five hundred millions in one year. What would he say of a thousand millions A MONTH?

Twelve billions a year is a great deal of money, but it is not too much, not enough if well spent, to drive out depression and bring back employment. We sent ten billions to Europe, never to come back, and spent twenty more billions for other peoples' war on top of that. We might well spend some of our billions productively, at home.

Germany, with the help of many doctors, scientists, psychiatrists, judges, hospital, prepares to "sterilize" hundreds of German men, women and children, from infancy to 30 years of age and older. The idea is to pick out the unfit and, by surgery, make them unable to have children.

It might be simpler, more effective, to select four, instead of 400,000 Germans, sterilize the four, with the headman's assistance, and go along in the old German way. That old way used to work well enough.

Mussolini believes that war is probable, even should the wicked Americans never sail through the air against Rome. He is giving military training to two million Italian boys.

LaGuardia, new mayor of New York, asks for dictatorial powers, the right to "hire, fire and regulate pay." Many exclaim, "Dictatorship! Never, NEVER!"

What do the innocent things suppose they have always had from well-organized political machines? Do they imagine that they have ever had any say in their government?

What is the difference between dictatorship, used secretly and openly dictatorship?

Mr. Walter J. Cummings, chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, says the situation as regards security of bank deposits should be made clear. The facts are that all national banks MUST deposit certain monies to be used to guarantee all bank deposits up to twenty-five hundred dollars, and have done so. State banks are not compelled under this arrangement, but may do so if they please.

It is a pleasure to announce that throughout the whole country only four or five hundred State banks have refused to join in the plan for guaranteeing deposits. Thirteen thousand banks, all the national banks, and nearly all state banks are included in the guarantee.

You will be sorry to hear of an epidemic of influenza in Tokio, with more than 40 deaths a day.

You will be glad to hear that leaders of 30 Protestant denominations have decided to promote a "spiritual revival, recovery and advances" to keep step with the business revival. Nothing could be more desirable than this, for the fact that "great social ideas of Christianity are being woven into the fabric of our national life."

This nation has recognized Russia and now Russia discovers nine new sources of gold, all capable of being worked in.

DEATH THREAT SENT TO RICH BUILDER

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

A threatening letter, preliminary to an extortion demand, was received today by Louis E. Rudin, of Hyde St., Newton Highlands, wealthy young builder, the Boston Evening American has learned. Rudin is married to the former Ruth Barron, Radcliffe graduate, and daughter of a Brooklyn realtor. They have one child, Andrea, aged 20 months.

LETTER IS READ
She received the letter and read it in the absence of her husband and became hysterical.

The letter read: Jan. 4, 1934
Dear Friend:
You are to follow instruction which will be given you before next Sunday night. You must not fail or you will suffer in your home.

Be prepared to pay some money on demand. Do not forget you will get theirs soon. They are to be put on the spot.

(Signed) Chevalier D'Industrie.
While the letter threatened death the Rudin family kidnapping and will have their child guarded.

Rudin is a Technology graduate, son of Samuel Rudin, a heavy contractor.

Mrs. Rudin, is the daughter of Morris Barrow, of 182 Beacon St., a wealthy retired retail dealer, the attended Brookline High School, the School of St. Anne, and graduated from Radcliffe in 1923.

Fay Webb Torrid Evidence Impounded by Lawyer

New York, Jan. 5 (INS)—Mrs. Benjamin A. Hartstein, Fay's lawyer, today renewed her battle to join Rudy from getting a Mexican divorce, today, before the appellate division, and her lawyer got a stinging rebuff about Fay's San Juan Gutierrez, counsel to the crown.

"Rudy Valle is not the wronged wife, but the wrongdoer," "Rudy Valle has treated her exceptionally well in giving her a $50,000 home in California and all money of $100 a week. But Mrs. Valle had an admirer who told her she was foolish to accept so little when she could easily get $500 a week."

And there was a lot more. The rest was submitted in writing and was impounded at the request of

Rockefeller Better, May Go to Florida

Tarrytown, N. Y., Jan. 5 (AP)—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., it was learned today, is feeling better and may make his delayed annual winter trip to his estate in Florida within two weeks or so.

No definite date has been set, but Mr. Rockefeller has never been content, it was said, to remain through the winter at his Pocantico Hills estate.

PHILBIN, ATLAS TACK KINGPIN, ARRESTED

By JOHN H. NOONAN
Staff Correspondent of the Boston Evening American
New York, Jan. 5—Hearing in the Atlas Tack stock debauch, nurtured in a battery of Boston telephones, came to a dramatic climax today when Philip H. Philbin, Jr., the self-admitted promoter who is said to have made $500,000 in Atlas, was arrested on a charge of contempt of court.

Philbin's arrest followed his declared refusal to answer questions relating to checks, involving more than $400,000, made out in the names of men charged by Asst. Atty. Gen. Ambrose V. McCall to have been used as "straw."

The promoter smiled as he walked with Asst. Det. James F. McCoy to the Elizabeth St. station for booking and for later arraignment in the First Magistrate's Court.

Philbin pleaded not guilty to misdemeanor charges before Magistrate Louis Brodsky. He was released in $500 bail for hearing January 9.

QUESTIONED ON JARVIS
Philbin testified he learned that the McNeil Service was giving "tips" on Atlas and said he and President Kivert of the company were preparing to investigate when the market broke.

"He said he sold out because 'someone else had stepped in to playing the market.'"

"Do you remember you told that you had a suspicion it was Jarvis or Janis in Boston?" A—

Q—Where did you hear it? A—

Seven Firms Hit by Fire Loss

Three damaged in the Atlas Tack fire included Fenway Park centerfield pavilion, Stierling Tire Co., Old Cotton Club and the vacant Dunlop Tire Co. building, all in Lansdowne st.

Chief Henry Fox said the total damage would be between $250,000 and $300,000.

The Regent Garage, Checker Taxi Co., and Quick Pontiac Repair station suffered from water and smoke damage.

Well, I don't know just how. Q—Do you know Jarvis, A—

Q—You heard rumors that he was interested? A—I didn't say the name Jarvis. I said the name Janis.

Q—Didn't you say that either Jarvis or Janis owned the McNeil Financial Service? A—I don't remember.

Q—Did you ever meet Jarvis? A—

GIRL DIES IN FIERY PLANE

Never, France, Jan. 5 (AP)—Evelyn Frost, the American aviator, was burned to death today in the crash of an airplane.

Miss Frost, who was piloting the plane, en route to Egypt, collided with high tension wires in a

The plane burst into flames immediately and the pilot was trapped in the flaming mass of wreckage.

The British flyer, Geoffrey Rutledge, who accompanied her, was slightly injured.

RICH BACHELOR FOUND DEAD OF FUMES

Southern Orleans, Jan. 5—Rain pattered on the roof of the Bullard garage here today. The doors were closed, but not locked.

Inside lay Theodore Bullard, 35, bachelor son of the wealthy family whose ten acre estate holds the heights of the choice overlook of Orleans Cove. Theodore Bullard was dead.

Medical Examiner C. H. Keene said he was dead by his own hand, the name Janis.

Young Bullard, graduate of Harvard in 1921, was the son of Frederick Bullard who composed the famous Tech song, "It's Always Fair Weather."

He had lived with his mother here, summer and winter. A servant went to the garage just before noon and found it filled with fumes. The motor of one of the two family cars was running. Bullard was in the rear.

There was no apparent motive for the suicide.

American League Ball Is Chosen

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—The standard ball for the two major leagues for 1934 will follow the specifications used by the American League last season. This was agreed upon today after a conference between John A. Heydler, president of the National League, and Will Harridge, president of the American League, with baseball manufacturers in Philadelphia.

It means a livelier ball for the National League.

SCORES FLEE BLAST PERIL IN 5-ALARM FLAMES

3 Buildings in "Auto Row" Swept, With Many Men Hurt

Boston's worst fire in many years swept Fenway Park's new construction today and ate its way through three buildings in the congested "auto-mobile row" district in Lansdowne st., Back Bay.

The loss was $250,000. Five alarms sounded in quick succession, shortly after 1 o'clock, summoned all the city's available apparatus to the district west of Kenmore square in BLASTS.

Three persons were injured, telephone service was disrupted and the whole area was thrown into confusion and alarm as a series of explosions occurred in the fire area.

Heavy black smoke drifted over the entire Back Bay in the vicinity of the Red Sox ball park.

The flames started in and destroyed the new centerfield pavilion in the ballyard, where center Tom Tawney was spending $750,000 in improvements.

More than 150 men were at work under the direction of the pavilion, which had been partly filled with concrete, when a salamander started for heating the concrete exploded, touching off a mound of canvas.

FLAMES SWEEP AREA
Within five minutes the flames had reached 60 feet to the top of the pavilion and mushroomed out on both sides, leaped from the rear of the building and ate its way through three buildings of the "Delivering Tire Co."

From there, within 15 minutes more, they had spread to the plants of the Dunlop Tire Co., the Checker Tachib Co., the repair division of

ROOSEVELT SETS OUT

ROOSEVELT SETS OUT
HOW TO SPEED
CONGRESSWorld Court Is Early
Eliminated to Block
Long Debates

Washington, Jan. 5 (INS)—President Roosevelt has already started to use the whip on Congress, cutting time-dwouring, secondary legislation from the path, and seeking speedy enactment of recovery measure and adjustment in May.

Backed by tremendous majorities in Capitol Hill, the President has sought to keep the legislature true to the general course he has laid out. Mr. Roosevelt does not plan to act idly by when and if the "big" bill, almost inevitably superfluous Congress wanders off into one of its habitual labyrinthine of debate and inaction.

Characteristically, the Executive has not revealed how he expects to accomplish his objective. But he has already made one move, by eliminating the annual bugaboo of lengthy debate over World Court adherence.

NO WORLD COURT

Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader of the Senate made the World Court not be taken up at this session. He said: "We feel the situation in Europe is so complicated that this is an opportune time to proceed with the resolution relating to the World Court."

While the House went to work today to get immediate vote on a liquor bill aimed to produce at least $200,000,000 a year in taxes, the general sales tax seemed strong in various quarters.

Advocates found comfort in the thought that the government's desperate need for revenue is inevitably advancing their cause.

MANY CHANGING VIEWS

More and more people in Congress, Democrats and Republicans alike, are coming to the view that eventually the government will have to come to the general sales tax.

The income tax has failed to produce up to expectations. Every time Congress plugs up loopholes, the lawyers find new holes, and the banking committee's investigation by the disclosure that the 200 millionaires married of the J. P. Morgan firm, including Morgan himself, paid little or no income tax between 1929 and 1932.

NO DEBT CUTTING

Another development is that the government's financial plight makes it more unlikely than ever that this or any recessionary period will result in material modification of the $10,000,000,000 indebtedness from our late allies.

President Roosevelt's plan to cut down on Wednesday has sent up a communication concerning the debt. In many quarters, this was construed as advance notice that he would ask Congress to bargain with the debtors on his own responsibility. Should he do so, it is a step, it will precipitate a fight of no small proportions.

STEEL MEN DEFY
U. S. BOARD

Washington, Jan. 5 (INS)—The United States Steel Corp. today challenged the authority of the National Labor Board to rule on the refusal of its subsidiary, the U. S. Steel Coal & Coke Co., to make contracts with the United Mine Workers of America.

Nathan L. Miller, counsel for the corporation, who appeared before the board with W. L. Irvin, president of the corporation, and Thomas M. Jones, president of the U. S. Steel Coal & Coke Co., said:

"We are not extending and don't intend extending recognition, if that means making a union contract. We recognize that Mr. Murray and Mr. Lewis (John L. Lewis) are officers of the United Mine Workers. We have never made any agreement of acceding them that designation, but we have always made it plain that we would not contract with anybody but our employees."

800 MILLIONS IN BACK TAXES IS TO BE JUMPSecretary Announces
He Will Take Action
"Very Soon"

Washington, Jan. 5 (AP)—Terminating market reaction to President Roosevelt's budget message "very good," Secretary Morgenthau said today the treasury will begin "right soon" on its ten-billion-dollar financing program.

The President's chief financial aide, whose confirmation in his new post by the Senate is expected next week, also disclosed that an intensive effort to collect back taxes is in the making, he having summoned internal revenue collectors and agents to convene with him Jan. 17.

MILLIONS IN BACK TAXES

Back taxes exceed $200,000,000, he said, and the treasury plans to bring in to aid the treasury book books—the President told Congress yesterday—would be some nine billion dollars off balance within two years because of the recovery program.

We work out a quota on back taxes for each internal revenue collector, put the quota up on a blackboard and see how far the collectors can bring down their quotas," Morgenthau said. "We'll have a little rivalry."

Morgenthau said the conference with internal revenue collectors, which will last two days, is only the first of several planned. The week after the revenue collectors assemble, customs collectors will be called in and the following week the directors of the narcotics bureau.

NO DATE YET FOR ISSUE

Morgenthau said that just now the treasury has no definite plans as to the exact date of the first financing issue, its size, or the type of obligation to be offered.

I thought reaction in the markets to the President's budget message was very good," he commented.

Tufts Student Gets Rhodes Scholarship

Lowell, Jan. 5 (AP)—Murry Kirkwood, graduate of Pomona College and now a student at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, Tufts College, Medford, California, was named one of the Rhodes Scholarship.

The aid of actors and actresses could be enlisted, through the Actors' Equity, the Lamb's Club, etc. Nor would there be any competition with the legitimate theater, for the latter, indeed, would benefit in the long run.

"In other words, what we want today is co-operation in the field of entertainment as elsewhere. A danger the playhouse has to face today is extension through competition with radio, television and the like, although I believe this peril has been over-stressed."

The object is to create, through the schools, a really vital interest in drama. There is no extensive expenditure of public funds implied. The facilities, including vacant theaters, are at hand.

"The old-fashioned 'role' could also be revived, the whole going to constitute a highly practical extension of the regular classroom work."

"The short of it is, I'm not so much a corner as a roter," was the official's conclusion.

9 ARE ALMOST SUFFOCATED

Brooklyn, Jan. 5—Three families barely escaped being suffocated when their fire broke out today in a three-apartment dwelling at 27 1st st.

Those who were assisted out by firemen are Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Cobb and their seven-year-old son, Milton; Mr. and Mrs. Knute Dahlen, and their 15-year-old daughter, Madeline; and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bourne and their daughter, Marilyn, five, who is recovering from a broken leg.

The fire, of unknown origin, started in a second-floor kitchenette of the Dahlen family.

Mary M'Cormic Here
Calls Prince a Fool

By RUTH MUGGERBEE

Flame-haired and fiery-tempered Mary M'Cormic bessed into Boston today, her personality at fever pitch and her spontaneous phrases not off the griddle of smart verbiage.

The former Princess Mervale, who is said to have slapped a Los Angeles woman writing following her divorce from Sergi Mdivani, a member of the last grand-ducal noble family in this country, was in fine spirits as she strolled through the streets of the city.

In the dynamic opera singer, here for a week's engagement at the Metropolitan Theater, who was first given a job by Mary Gardin, herself an temperamental slouch, there is an evident trace of the Garden fire and fervor.

WANTS MONKEY HAT

"That — porter —" La M'Cormic quickly looked about her, screwed her attractive face into wrinkled shades which finally melted into a provocative smile and added:

"My ex-hub, I forgot I am in Boston. I should have said that horrible porter forgot to give me my hat box. Fifteen hats in that box and one of them is a monkey hat. If I don't get that monkey hat, which I had made yesterday, somebody is going to look like a monkey. I'm told that Mary Gardin has a monkey hat. I don't want to go to an incident a few years ago when Mary Gardin, dressed into the city from Windy Chicago like a veritable cyclone, ready to team apart the powers that be because someone misplaced her box of cosmetics."

When three stage hands and a horse porter had finally carried the most important hat box to its mistress, the former Princess calmed herself. "I don't mind I had a smile for prettiness and beauty."

But it wasn't long before she was in the arms of temperance once more.

GOOD UNWEDDED HUSBAND

Somebody asked Miss M'Cormic if her ex-husband's charges that Samuel Insull, deposed financial czar, was the cause of their marital rift "were true, and she thundered back:

"That's the bunk, pure and simple! I had the prince in jail for that. Sergi was the most charming man I had ever met before I married him."

"He was the best husband in the world before we were married. But when that happened here, out of the winning of the continental idea of possession he became a different man. He saw the blood in my Irish eyes and did as I said."

"The light that shone in the M'Cormic eyes turned to blood and Sergi saw it—so did the woman who claims I hit her. Fool!"

Miss M'Cormic, whose romance with Harry Bannister, Ann Harling's ex-husband, was not but fleeting, will leave for London on the Ile de France, January 13, for a brief European tour.

"And I am getting out of the country, process servers to the contrary, I have to be carried aboard as cargo. La M'Cormic never dies, you know," she said.

SHOOTINGBoys at Target Practice, Not Gunmen,
Blamed for Shot

Thoughtless lads at target practice in a meadow and not gunmen enemies were responsible for the bullet which was fired into the piazza of the home of James J. "Two Gun" Baker in Bakersville, Wollaston, late yesterday, police investigation revealed today.

It had been thought at first that some one was out to "get" the man who was the terror of speeding motorists while a member of the Quincy police. "Two Gun" resigned a month or so ago when his superiors declined to extend his departmental leave of absence. Since his retirement, Baker has not been living in his wife's home. Mrs. Baker pointed out that this was not generally known.

The mysterious bullet, police discovered today, had been fired from a considerable distance. It hit the eaves of the floor in the room making a small hole, and then had dropped to the floor in a bed, where it was picked up by investigators.

DOCTOR IN 36-HOUR FIGHT SNATCHES WOMAN FROM DEATH

FIREMEN HELP HIM TO SAVE MOTHER OF 6

Heart Attack Victim Given 40 Injections of Adrenalin

A little man wiped his brow. He was Dr. H. N. Gerardell of Brookline, for 36 hours fighting against death. Now he had won and could sleep.

Aided by relay of Roxbury firemen, he worked over Mrs. Theresa Vento, 44, of 10 Orchard st., Roxbury, a heart attack victim, since 10 p. m. Wednesday.

Four times her pulse stopped, but not the doctor. Half a glass of whiskey and dozens of cups of coffee—black—kept him administering 40-odd injections of adrenalin, strychnine and caffeine, and directing rays of firemen, under Lieut. William Nolan of Rescue Co. 2, Dudley st.

For 24 hours 14 firemen worked with the little doctor, using their inhaler. Then he told them to go; the patient was out of danger.

Dr. Gerardell left at 10 a. m., and this afternoon a nurse told her six children, ranging from 9 to 23 years, and the husband, Angelo, the wife and mother was resting and gaining strength.

CONNIE BINNEY CALLS BOSTON SOCIETY BUNK

Star, Planning Return to Stage, Says She Nearly Ended Life

Things being what they are in society, and girls having their careers to consider and all, the well-known Binney sisters, Constance and Faye, have returned to the stage again.

There's little addition in Paylar drawing rooms for girls accustomed to swaying audiences, so the sisters are rehearsing a new play in New York.

As the gentle Constance, at one time considered the likeliest successor to Mary Pickford in the films, ingeniously explained:

"Aw, society is the bunk." "Society wouldn't even exist if it wasn't for publicity," she said scornfully, "I was born a society wench, and I've resented it ever since."

My first marriage brought me further into society—Boston society. Why it all drove me so furious and unhappy, this society bunk, that I nearly committed suicide up there by jumping off the Vendome roof."

Her first husband was Charles E. Cotting, Harvard graduate, Boston banker, clubman and World War aviator, to whom she was wedded in 1926. She is now married to Henry Wharton, Jr., of a Philadelphia family.

Before quitting the theater for matrimony in 1928, Constance Binney had been a success in movie-

MORRIS HAVE 'COURT CRIMIN' ON HOME MOON

"No Quarrels Yet," Says Jester of Their Royal Entourage

Chicago, Jan. 5 (INS)—Traveling in the daintiest splendor of a gorgeously equipped $25,000 private car and the same royal entourage accompanied by even a court jester, Prince Alexis and Princess Barbara—the glittering Moldavians—paused here today.

Princess Barbara, nee Hulton, heiress of the $40,000,000 Woolworth fortune, is treating her newly-acquired Georgian Prince to a round-the-world honeymoon.

The titled couple remained as aloof and remote as the Romanovs in the seclusion of the moving palace. At no time did they emerge from the car.

Only Young Jimmy Donahue, a cousin of the princess, came forth, grinning and shivering in a flamboyant yellow flowered top, silk pajamas and red slippers. Jimmy was asked why he was accompanying the couple. He snapped: "Why, for my brilliant wit. I'm the only one they need. They tried to get Ed Wyman, but he couldn't come along."

"Seriously, I wanted to see China. But I'm not intruding, for this is really no honeymoon. They've been married eight months. We'll spend two weeks in Japan, then take a home in Pring and stay six months."

He was enthusiastic about Barbara and her prince. "They get along better than a couple I ever saw. They haven't quarreled yet. And that's no story. They're supremely happy."

Movies Claim Boston Girl

Another Boston girl to be claimed by Hollywood today is Theo Phane of Boston and Somerville, now in "Roman Scandals" at Loew's State. Theo, a model and dancer, has been chosen by Samuel Goldwyn in Eddie Cantor's next picture.

Fall Proves Fatal

Attleboro, Jan. 5—Mrs. G. Fred Hall, wife of the superintendent of the Attleboro Falls Post Office, was fatally injured here in a fall.

THEO PHANE IN WIFE ASKS BALM OF MA-IN-LAW

Theo Phane, born in Boston and educated in Somerville where she was known as Stella Theophane Fortier, is one of the eight beautiful girls now appearing in Eddie Cantor's musical film, "Roman Scandals," at Loew's State, who has been awarded a two-year contract by Samuel Goldwyn and as a result will have a part in the famous pop-eyed comedian's next picture.

In selecting his girls, Goldwyn did not want Broadway toughness or Hollywood artifice. Manhattan show girls, skilled in exhibiting their pride and the pink and white dolls from the casting offices were barred. "We didn't want professional; they had to be 'young, fresh and sweet.'" They came in droves, from every point on the compass.

Among them was Theo Phane, one of the most noted models in the country. She had danced with the New York stage star, Hal LeRoy, and had later passed up an opportunity to appear in the stage production of "Whoopie" in order to go to Hollywood to try her luck in pictures. Now she has been chosen as number four girl on the eight famous Goldwyn beauties and appears headed for screen fame.

Mrs. Constance Darling, 22, of 611 North Main st., Randolph, today filed a $50,000 alienation of affections suit against her mother-in-law, Mrs. Rose Darling of Brockton.

She charges the elder woman with enticing her 25-year-old husband, Vance, away from her and their three-year-old child, Jeanne. Papers in the suit have not yet been served on Mrs. Darling, who is believed to be in Florida.

A similar suit was filed in Norfolk County last October. It is understood the present Suffolk action is designed to tie up the defendant's funds in the First National Bank of Boston.

New Jersey Sights General Sales Tax

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 5 (INS)—Reports that Gov. A. Harry Moore was planning to propose a sales tax in his annual message to the state legislature, today added impetus to the rapidly increasing legislative sentiment for the tax.

The funds from such a levy and those from the gasoline tax and motor vehicle license fees would be used, it was said, to aid financially distressed municipalities.

WOMAN, 77, HIT BY AUTO, DIES

Mrs. Maria A. Frost, 77, of 88 Oxford st., Arlington, died today in the Symmes Hospital there of injuries suffered last night during the snow and sleet storm when she was struck by an automobile operated by Mrs. Grace Curry, 75, Riverside av., Arlington Heights.

A police car appeared on the scene a few moments after the accident and took her to the hospital. It was reported the storm obscured visibility and she walked into the path of the car. She is survived by two sons, Arthur Frost, who is in the American consular service in India, and Francis Frost, Arlington.

The will of Mrs. Annie F. Stacy of Brookline, disposing of an estate valued at more than $200,000, was filed in Norfolk Probate Court today.

To George S. Pearce, a nephew, are bequeathed $40,000 in cash and the testator's stock in the Home National Bank of Brookline, the Ludlow Manufacturing Associates and the Stacy Adams Co.

Mrs. Lizette H. Wilkinson, a sister of Beeson st., Boston, receives $25,000, while $10,000 goes to another nephew, Albert E. Wilkinson, and $15,000 to each of two nieces, the Misses Amy Wilkinson and Harriet Washburn.

The will creates a trust fund of $25,000 for a sister, Mrs. Mary Gunderson, and at her death, for her three children.

Mrs. Stacy's maid, Bertha Olson, receives $4,000, and a chauffeur, Thomas Conally, $2,000.

BOSTON MARCH DURING DIES

Thomas Morrill Carter, noted bandmaster and composer of the "Boston Commandery March," died today at his home, 27 Inhabella st. He is survived by his widow, the former Miss Percy S. Hazen, whom he married 37 years ago, and daughter, the wife of Justice H. A. Smith of Liverpool, N. Y.

Mr. Carter was the friend of Philip Sousa and other eminent musicians and was one of the earliest members of the Boston Musicians' Protective Union, Local No. 9.

He was born Dec. 25, 1861, at Newton, N. H.

PLOT TO STEAL 40 MILLIONS MORE BARED

Paris, Jan. 5 (AP)—New operations calculated to net another forty million dollars of the public's money had been outlined by Serge Stavisky, shortly before he fled after the collapse of the Bayonne Municipal Pawnshop, police declared today.

They said the plans were uncovered in their investigation of the loss of around $20,000,000 with bank's fall and asserted that only the breaking of the scandal prevented the launching of the new program.

Meanwhile, Premier Chautemps mobilized the police of all France in a hunt for Stavisky, founder of the bank, as the investigation broadened into what was described as the nation's worst financial scandal since the fall of the Albert Oustric banks which led directly to the overthrow of the government of Andre Tardieu.

Despite Stavisky's alleged big-scale operations, police found assets of only 14 francs—less than a dollar—in a search of his Paris office today.

The authorities even went so far as to send wireless messages to ships at sea bound for South America in the search for Stavisky.

It was feared that a heavy proportion of the loss at Bayonne would fall upon the taxpayers, as French municipal pawnshops are more or less guaranteed by the state.

Rockefeller Heiress Bids in Things Mother Loved

New York, Jan. 5 (U.S.)—The furs that once enveloped the shoulders of Edith Rockefeller McCormick, daughter of John D. Rockefeller, Sr., and her jewels collected throughout a lifetime of wealth were sold at a public auction.

It took the sight of her mother's intimate possessions to shatter the calm that Muriel McCormick Hubbard has maintained through the three sessions of the auction at the Anderson galleries.

Bids of $2500 were frequently topped—the Hubbards increasing bids at a hundred dollars a call when they were determined to keep a Rockefeller possession in the family.

Mrs. Hubbard seated beside her husband, Mel E. D. Hubbard, let her eyes linger for a moment on the short chinchilla coat held up by strange hands to be bid for by strange voices—her face flushed and she turned to her husband, asked him to bid the coat into their family hands.

Of the four coats marked "important furs" in the catalogue the Hubbards attached importance to three, purchasing a long chinchilla wrap for $2000; the chinchilla coat for $1000, and a Russian ermine cape for $525.

Several pieces of her mother's jewelry appealed to Mrs. Hubbard, but the most valuable one in the extensive jewel collection went to the $2500.

LIND GUARDED AT BURIAL OF HIS MOTHER

Under escort of two deputy sheriffs, John "Sweet" Lind, held in $50,000 bond for the alleged robbery preceding the shooting of Matthew P. Gorham in his South Boston home, perished, attended the funeral of his mother today.

The mother, Mrs. Loretta Lind, 64, dropped dead in her home in Florida st., Dorchester, when Sgt. John Malloy and a squad of officers placed the son under arrest on the robbery charge.

While the solemn dirge of the organ reverberated in St. Mark's Church, Ashmont, Lind, with his eyes fixed straight ahead, sat in a pew, a deputy sheriff on either side. Farther back in the church were several plainclothes policemen, but a few mourners, if any, knew of their presence.

Lind was dry-eyed while the ritual was being intoned by the Rev. Francis V. Cummings.

The Rev. Walter F. Donahue was deacon and the Rev. Francis P. McElroy sub-deacon.

Friends of the family acted as pallbearers for the mother who found the shock of her son's arrest too much, and the burial was in New Calvary, to where Lind, still escorted by the solemn-visaged plainclothes officers.

When the prayers at the grave had been said and the mourners were departing, Lind was placed in a county car and driven back to Charles st. jail, where he is held in default of bail on the robbery charge.

A companion is held in the same hall on a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill Gorham.

Seeks $100,000 for Love

Catherine Armstrong, Boston nurse now living in Norton, who by suit seeks $250,000 from the "Freddy" Ames estate. She says Ames had promised her $100,000 and showed her a will.

Nurse Starts Search for Missing Ames Will

What became of an alleged will leaving his self-styled sweetheart $100,000 will be an important part of the bitter legal battle forecast between Catherine Armstrong, Beacon Hill nurse, and the executors of the estate of the late "Freddy" Ames, society flier.

Miss Armstrong, reopening a suit she dropped a year ago, says that in her belief the will was "lost, concealed or destroyed." The Ames family had maintained there never was such a document.

The attractive girl who now lives in Norton, says that Ames promised to marry her after he got a divorce. She seeks $250,000 in all in the suit she filed in Suffolk Court yesterday.

She contends that she promised and kept her promise to refrain from marrying anyone else and that she devoted all her time and energy to Ames.

For this she seeks reimbursement of $100,000, in addition to the $100,000 she claims is rightfully hers under the terms of the will.

Of the latter she says that Ames showed her a document and declared:

"Sweetheart, it's all fixed up. Here's the will, and you get Ames. He'll die suddenly, but his plane crashed in Boston, carrying him and two others to death. But he had never divorced Mrs. Maurice Ames, wife of a western ranchman, that culminated when Ames flew to Arizona to marry her.

Miss Armstrong, through Atty. James P. Cavanaugh of Boston, instituted a similar suit in probate court at Taunton a year ago, but dropped it.

The defendants, Mrs. Edith C. Cutler, mother of the aviator, and the Old Colony Trust Co., executors of the estate, are expected to contest the claims.

FRAMINGHAM'S GAS RATE CUT

Its name is not Santa Claus, and it didn't come on Christmas morn, but it brought a tidy package today for the gas consumers of Framingham.

Worcester Gas Light Co., which serves the people there, announced a reduction in gas rates in Framingham. It announced a rate cut averaging 25 per cent. Quick arithmetic shows that the delayed Christmas package amounts to more than $15,000 annually.

The company says it will lower the rate, effective Feb. 1, to meet competition, principally of oil ranges for heating. It may be a coincidence, only a coincidence, that the people of Framingham recently constituted a committee of citizens to investigate gas, electric and phone rates, with the idea of obtaining reductions in them.

REICH CHURCH SCHISM NEAR

Halle, Germany, Jan. 5 (AP)—Lutheran bishops stood resolutely today between the Nazis and realization of their dreams of a Protestant Reich Church.

The bishops declared their intention of seceding from the German Evangelical Church before sundown unless Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller yielded in his insistence that German Christians be a member of the new church cabinet.

The threatened virtual schism would mean the end of the Reich Church and place Prussia, where the Lutheran and Reformed faiths are merged in the United Lutheran Church, in the center of the struggle.

In Prussia it was expected some provinces—notably Rhineland and Westphalia—would join the secession movement.

PWA MILIONS SPEED TRADE

Washington, Jan. 5 (INS)—The Public Works expenditure of more than $3,000,000,000 in approximately six months, has begun to make its self felt, not only in larger public payrolls, but in stimulated private industry, Secretary of Interior Ickes declared today as Congress studied a new public works request for more than $1,600,000,000.

The new appropriation is to enable a continuation of the program. Referring to the first public works fund, and criticism by some Congressmen of its distribution, Ickes said:

"When Congress looks into the expenditure of this fund I am satisfied it will find a good job done."

War Nurses to Be Treated at Rutland

Nurses who served with the American Army in the World War and who contracted tuberculosis will be treated at the Veterans' Hospital at Rutland, Representative Edith Rogers of Lowell announced in Washington today.

Through the Congresswoman's efforts, the Veterans' Administration approved the reimbursement that eight to twelve beds be set aside in the hospital. This is the only hospital in New England where women veterans will receive treatment.

Boy Burns to Death Cleaning His Skates

Hartford, Ct., Jan. 5 (AP)—The match Robert Riggott, 15, lighted while cleaning rust from his ice skates with gasoline brought death to him today. He died at Hartford Hospital from burns suffered as gasoline fumes flared and his clothing caught fire. He was one of eleven children of Mr. and Mrs. Claude N. Riggott of Windsor Locks. They came a year ago from Holyoke, Mass.

POWICE RADIO IS HERE BY TONIGHT

Slowly but surely, state and city forces were being mobilized today for the war on hold-up gangs declared on direct orders of Gov. Ely.

Plans to increase the state constabulary and detective force were being worked out; and sometime before tonight the first radio-equipped cruiser car in Boston police history will be on tour in this city.

By tomorrow night, Const. Hallman will have on the streets 20 radio-equipped cruisers, lined up in the state police broadcast prepared to pick up the flashed warnings of crime. As a result, Saturday night hoodlums are expected to fall off.

LYNN YOUTH SLAIN

While search continued for Charles Hoffman and his gang, suspected as the gunmen responsible for three recent murders in the series of robberies, a Lynn youth was shot dead by a policeman at the scene of an attempted break out far from the Paramount Theatre where on Tuesday Fred Sumner was killed in cold blood in a 200 building.

Charles E. Flynn, 23, of Burchard pl., a parolee burglar, was shot, slain, by Patrolman Ralph Winsor—and the killing, ironically, was accidental, it was reported.

Winsor and Patrolman William McDonald trapped Flynn in the rear of the Wilbur Rogers drug shop, at 29 Clinton st., as he stepped down from a snow bank under a window.

McDonald fired three shots in the air to halt Flynn, who came to a stop with his hands in his overcoat pockets, displaying an order to put them up.

KILLED BY ACCIDENT

Winsor stepped towards him with his revolver cocked, slipped on the ice and fell, and as he fell his gun was discharged, the bullet tearing through Flynn's stomach. He died at Lynn Hospital.

He was the son of John E. Flynn, a shoe worker, and between his occasional forays into crime worked in a shoe factory. He was on parole from Concord reformatory where he was sent for breaking and entering and larceny. An autopsy and inquest will be held.

Installation of the radio receiving sets in Boston police cars was being rushed today at the Warren avenue station garage under direction of Serg. William Donahue. It takes six to seven hours to install each receiving set, but Donahue said he expected with aid to have 15 cars on the street by tomorrow morning.

MORE MEN FOR NEEDHAM

Gen. Daniel Needham, who suggested the radio and the suggestion in the face of Hullman's plans to put two-way service into effect in two months, has recommended 53 more state detectives and more trunks. Gov. Ely is expected to provide for these in his budget measure to the legislature.

Eventually Gov. Ely is expected to give Needham state-wide charges of the bandit hunt with permission to throw his forces into Boston.

Gov. Ely himself came in for censure by Mayor J. Fred Manning of Lynn, who is accused by the Paramount Theatre murder and failure of police to make an arrest.

WOMAN IS DYING FROM BURNS

Smoke inhalation and burns will probably cause the death of Marie Bartlett, 31, who was trapped in her apartment on the first floor of 302 Huron ave., Cambridge, early today, when fire started in the basement.

Overcome when the flames ate their way through to the first floor, the aged woman was rescued by firemen and police, she was taken to Cambridge City Hospital, where her name was placed on the danger list.

The fire caused damage estimated at only $500, and drove five other occupants of the two-family house to the street.

Driver Fights Fire in Oil Truck

After skidding several feet on the slippery highway to a high ledge owned by the City Service Co. of Quincy, and loaded with fuel oil, tipped over and burst into flames on Main st., South Weymouth, early today.

Roderick Hebert, 41, of 175 Weymouth ave., Weymouth, driver of the truck, was pinned in the cab but managed to get out and extinguish the blaze with his overcoat.

Stop Grading For Pupils, Dean Asks

The elimination of report cards, grades, and marks in public schools was proposed today by Dean Frederick Lund Rogers, of the department of student health, physical education, and athletics at Boston University. He branded the present marking system as the incompetent or bored teacher's substitute for the red and the dunce cap.

Dean Rogers feels the struggle for grades promotes insincere scholarship, since the student is striving for the mark rather than the wisdom represented in the subject he is studying, with a consequent unsatisfactory basis for grading.

The Boston University dean also charged that many high marks are obtained by students through friendships with teachers, through fortuitous guessing what to study, while others get low marks because of lack of initiative, mis-spelled words and disciplinary reasons.

"Instead of being admitted to colleges on the basis of marks, students should be subjected to physical, psychological, social and academic tests administered by the admitting institutions, together with personality reports by headmasters," explained Dean Rogers.

BLAME IN TRAIN WRECK SOUGHT

Passengers, railroad employees and policemen testified today at the inquest into the New Haven railroad train telescoping on Nov. 29 between the Atlantic station and the open drawbridge over the Neponset river.

Fireman Herbert E. Tripp was fatally hurt in the crash and 73 others, mainly passengers, suffered lower injuries.

Asst. Dist. Atty. George W. Arbutnot presented the case in Quincy court, and he announced 12 witnesses to present evidence in an attempt to fix blame for the wreck.

Asst. Dist. Atty. George W. Arbutnot presented the case in Quincy court, and he announced 12 witnesses to present evidence in an attempt to fix blame for the wreck.

Edward F. McLaughlin became fire commissioner of Boston for the second time when he was sworn in today at City Hall by Asst. City Clerk John B. Hynes for a four-year term.

He was first named four years ago by former Mayor Curley, but resigned last fall to aid the campaign of Mayor Mansfield, who reappointed him yesterday.

ATLAS PROMOTER IS HELD

Three days more to study his records, which he insisted were all in McCaig's possession, he was arrested by Detective McCoy to appear for a warrant against the self-declared promoter, who is reputed to have cleaned up $600,000 in Atlas Tack.

Before his arrest, Philbin had declared he did not know the whereabouts of Harold Hale, mis-spelled secretary of Philip H. Philbin, Jr., he said.

WOMAN ENTERS CASE

A Boston mystery woman entered the case when Philbin at today's hearing denied that he knew any Miss Regia De Forge of South Boston.

Even when it was explained to Philbin that Miss De Forge is secretary of the Sentry Products Co. in Locust st., South Boston, and lives in Tuttle st. in the Savin Hill district of Boston, the self-declared promoter said he did not know her.

McCaig revealed he had tried unsuccessfully to get Chauncey M. Day of Boston, president of McNeill's Financial Service, to the hearing. The Atlas hoisting was sent out in his name by telephone from Boston.

DAY SENT "INVITATION"

Calvin telephone, person at the McNeill office in Boston today said he had sent an invitation to the telephone number at his McNeill home has been changed and the new number is unlisted, the telephone company said.

McCaig and Asst. Atty-Gen. Jacob Gruber affixed their signatures to the formal complaint, which brought a remark from Philbin, who said smilingly: "Isn't there anyone else who would like to know?"

Bookings of Philbin charged him with failure to answer questions after being served with a subpoena for a "careful investigation, and brought in a section of the general business law.

McCaig and Asst. Atty-Gen. Jacob Gruber affixed their signatures to the formal complaint, which brought a remark from Philbin, who said smilingly: "Isn't there anyone else who would like to know?"

The initial assembly of the Jewish federations and welfare funds will open in Chicago tomorrow night with Louis E. Kirstein, president of the Associated Jewish Philanthropies of Boston, as chief speaker.

Kirstein, who recently retired as national chairman of the NRA Industrial Board, will discuss "The Federal Recovery Program and the Jewish Communities."

He will also preside at the program-making session Sunday for the Jewish Charitable Federation of America. An address will also be made by Dr. Ben M. Seckman, executive director of the Associated Jewish Philanthropies.

AIR MAIL SPEED STUDY FACES CONGRESS

By ELLIOTT ROOSEVELT
Aviation Editor, Boston Evening
American.

Copyright, 1933, Boston Evening American.
Los Angeles, Jan. 4.—"The mail must go through!"

That time-honored slogan of modern life and commerce—subject of poetry and drama from Kipling's Indian jungles to frozen tundras of the Arctic—is presenting a new problem.

Aerial transport in America owes its very being to the air mail. The young winged giant of commerce and important arm of our national defense grew sturdy from that historic day when the first letter was carried in New York, only a few short years ago.

SOON UP TO CONGRESS—Congress is expected soon to study air mail subsidies, to speed up service without increase of expenditures, encourage development of transcontinental airways and assure comfort and safety to passengers.

Air mail should not be slowed down by passenger-safety demands. Some of our leading airlines recognize this fact by using fast single-engine planes to carry mail only. The coming year should see a fourteen-hour mail service across the country by long hops at high altitudes, in all kinds of weather.

Slower passenger service, for comfort and safety first, with sleeping berths and frequent stops can adapt itself to conditions rather than to mail schedules.

Passenger planes, say most of the operators, cannot fly economically without mail loads.

GIVE PARLEY FREE HAND
Why not let Postmaster General Farley have a free hand? Why not have an extra fast air mail for special service, with a lower rate to insure greater volume, then let the passenger airlines carry ordinary first-class mail when in the opinion of the postmaster general time can be saved?

Of course, the retrofits may protest. For years mail has been a time source of revenue to them. But can they—do they desire—to block progress? After all, it is the government's duty to give its taxpayers the best possible service and to encourage communication and business.

'Dumb Dora' a Wise Beauty

"QUEEN DUMB DORA"

BIL DWYER JEFFERSON MACHAMER
Bill Dwyer, the cartoonist who created the comic, "Dumb Dora," went on a hunt in New York to find, and prove, that his girl character is not overdrawn. He found Joan Redell in a night club and her answers to questions proved he was right, that she is a beautiful and wise "Dumb Dora," so she mounted the pedestal with Jefferson MacHammer standing by. French Court Denies Americans' Liberty

Paris, Jan. 5 (AP)—A formal plea for liberty by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gordon Swift of East Orange, N. J., held in connection with investigation of the spy ring, was denied today by a magistrate, who asked that he be held in jail pending completion of the inquiry.

BEACON TRUST ARGUMENT DUE

Arguments will be made tomorrow before Master James C. Reilly in the hearing of his damages for minority stockholders in their $1,000,000 suit against the directors of Beacon Participations, Inc., an affiliate of the Beacon Trust Co.

The hearing was set for two weeks ago. The final summing up will take place in Master Reilly's law office in the National Shawmut Bank Bldg.

Master Reilly was appointed by Judge John J. Burns of Suffolk Superior court who found for a small group of militant stockholders, headed by Edward Spiegel, a young Boston attorney who had been fighting the directors for some time in an effort to bring the true status of the defendant corporation.

ASK DORA, SHE DOESN'T KNOW

New York, Jan. 5.—Is there a "Dumb Dora" in real life? There is—probably many of them.

Bill Dwyer, the cartoonist who created the "Dumb Dora" comic went in quest of such a girl, and found her in a night club. Then they crowned her "Queen of Wise Dumbness" because she is wise and beautiful. She is Joan Redell and here are some of her answers in a test.

Q—Who wrote "As You Like It"? A—Mae West.

Q—Give the titles of three books. A—Vol. I, II, III.

Q—What is poetry, A—Yes. Columbus? A—His mother.

Q—What are the three R's? A—Rent, ration, and repeat.

Q—Who is New York's most popular male? A—Jimmy Walker.

Q—Name ten male movie stars. A—Mickey Mouse and nine friends.

Q—Who wrote Alexander's Ragtime Band? A—Alexander, of course.

Q—Who is the Vice-President of the U. S.? A—What difference does it make?

Q—What is it? A—Oh, boy!

13 SUITS FILED BY U. S. BANK

Thirteen Essex County residents, including three women, today were sued for claims totaling $23,100 by Joseph A. Broderick, receiver of the Bank of the United States, now under liquidation in New York.

The suits were filed in the Superior Court at Salem. They are based on assessments and interest due from the persons named, who were stockholders in the bank and as such were liable for assessments on their stock.

Those named in the suits are: Mrs. Ida L. Knight, Lawrence, $5000; Mrs. Frances L. Mahoney, North Andover, $1200; Mrs. Rose L. Kaplan, Salem, $250; Harry Weinstein, Lynn, $700; Paul F. Wadleigh, Lynn, $2000; Angelo Vespasiano, Lawrence, $1200; Michael A. Sullivan, Lawrence, $500.

Herbert W. Simmons, Lynn, $2500; Michael Pinski, Beverly, $3500; Joseph M. Kimball, Salem, $200; Harry Elgner, administrator of estate of Joseph Elgner of Lynn, $3500; Edward L. Doyle, Lynn, $1200; and Harry Adler, Lynn, $1000.

Immediately. These Russian gold sources, if richly productive, will soften the hearts of our "best minds" that think Russia should not be recognized. Also the discovery of gold will strengthen Russian belief, bound to come sooner or later, that perhaps Karl Marx did not know best. What quinine is to malaria, gold, "yellow and cold," is to Communism.

Dr. Dern, Secretary of War, yesterday announced the purchase of 100 fighting airplanes, including 46 bombers, in accordance with President Roosevelt's determination to "strengthen the defense forces of the nation. Angels that read our thoughts can testify that this country hasn't the faintest idea of attacking anybody. But it does intend to organize such defense as will make attack from the outside extremely dangerous for the attackers.

Anybody drinking alcohol on the theory that alcohol cures or prevents cancer, may stop drinking the alcohol. Experiments in Buffalo with mice show that pure ethyl alcohol, otherwise acceptable to the mice, does not cure cancers that afflicted them.

Many cancerous mice, kept continuously drunk in the interest of science, enjoyed the alcohol, but it did no good to the cancers.

A learned German, Dr. Thoms, had better results with rats. Alcohol seemed to help some forms of cancer in rats, and on other forms it had no effect. Prompt treatment with surgery and radium, not alcohol, are advised for cancer.

LIGHT ASKED ON NRA SPENDING

Washington, Jan. 5.—Representative Clifford of Massachusetts, ranking Republican member of the House committee on expenditures, said at the Capitol he would insist that administration officials give a "full explanation" of the expenditures in connection with the government's recovery agencies. He said:

"In view of the severe criticism on all sides of the civil works administration, the public works administration and other extraordinary agencies set up by the government, I believe the administration should appear before the committee at public hearings to justify their expenditures. It is the business of the committee to know how this money has been spent and if full value has been received for it."

300 Ordered to Quit Town When Anthrax Appears

Media, Pa., Jan. 5 (AP)—Get out! That notice has been served on every family in the village of Seelyville. The 30 homes in the 18-year-old wool mill community have been ordered abandoned because of an outbreak of a dangerous disease, anthrax. Three hundred persons are affected by the order to vacate.

The order was given yesterday by the U. S. health department. It owns the dwellings and is president of Seelyville Mills Co., on which the village depends for its live-livelihood.

It is to protect the 300 children from the disease that he has ordered the settlement vacated, Seely said. But fathers and mothers are shaking their heads. Worried folk who live in a village without sewer running water or electricity can ill afford to transplant their families to another town.

"We are not afraid of an epidemic," Seely asserted. "There has been no death from the disease and a number made ill. Wool workers do not fear the disease, as it is not serious if treated promptly."

The anthrax first was contracted in the mill carding room, where workers are believed to have handled wool from a diseased animal. "Woolsorter's disease" is another name for the disease, caused by bacteria. Workers are wearing masks and gloves to prevent infection, Seely said.

6000 Face Sea Test for Marshal's Job

More than 6000 applications have been received by U. S. Marshal John J. Murphy to fill the ten vacancies as deputy U. S. Marshals.

Due to the large number of applicants all candidates may have to take a mental test. In that case one of the questions would be: "What do you know of admiralty law, if anything?"

Transferred to Sea Duty

Washington, Jan. 5.—The navy department announced the transfer of Commander, William H. Short, M. C., from the Portsmouth, N. H., Naval Hospital to the U. S. S. Wyoming.

FORD BROTHER TOO PROUD TO ASK HELP

Detroit, Jan. 5 (INS).—Why did Henry Ford, the world's wealthiest manufacturer, permit his brother, William, to go bankrupt?

Because, the Detroit Times said today, William Ford wished to stand or fall alone.

The newspaper said it learned from a friend of William Ford that this explained William's voluntary petition in bankruptcy which came to light this week. The petition listed debts of $422,000 and assets consisting only of a home, a few parcels of real estate and some stocks.

William Ford's failure, the petition indicated, was due to the collapse of William Ford & Co., a tractor and farm implement concern.

The Times' story said: "William Ford, who hitched his tractor implement business to the soaring star of his brother Henry's success, went into bankruptcy court not because aid was withheld from him, but because it was understood he would stand or fall alone."

William Ford & Co. wasn't holding water, and borrowed money didn't make it waterproof, said the friend.

"I am quite sure there wasn't even any thought of asking Henry Ford to save it by pouring in more money," he said. "It was considered a highly successful venture."

Whether the removal of the Ford tractor plant to Ireland several years ago turned the tide for William Ford & Co., or whether its demise was just another depression casualty could not be learned.

The Ford Motor Co. would only say: "Henry Ford never discusses personal or family affairs."

BYRD MENACED BY ICE CRASH

Aboard Admiral Byrd's Flagship in the Antarctic, Jan. 5 (AP)—Via MacKay Radio—A blizzard of snow storm, the flagship of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's second Antarctic expedition was prepared to move today in the event conditions became worse.

The ice pack appeared to be pressing in toward where the ship bore to in an area of open water from which Admiral Byrd made a dramatic flight Wednesday to latitude 72-30 south.

The dampest was made in the face of widespread protest from anti-aircraft and church organizations.

Action is still pending on the case of seven other students, like those dismissed, who were denied exemptions from military training after they claimed to have "conscientious" objection.

In all 31 cases of objectors were heard by a special committee and 15 persons were excused from drill.

Ryan's Old Aid Held as Auto Perjuror

Prof. Charles B. Slocombe, of New York, former expert for the State Department of public works, pleaded not guilty today in municipal court when arraigned on charges of perjury and making a false statement in connection with the registration of auto.

Bail was set at $1,000 and the case adjourned to Jan. 22. Slocombe was approached by an official of the State Income Tax Division. Slocombe accompanied him to the tax office at 40 Court st.

Berlin, Jan. 5 (AP)—Former Kaiser Wilhelm's historic hunting lodge at Seeburgh, north of Berlin, was badly damaged by fire today. Incendiaries were believed responsible.

Bandits Pause for Baby

London, Jan. 5 (INS).—With Ruth Darwin, a granddaughter of Charles Darwin, one of the members, a British committee has concluded a lengthy report undertaken to favor sterilization of mental defectives, it was learned today.

The committee, whose report will be published shortly, was appointed by Sir Hilton Young, minister of health, last June, to survey the subject.

If sterilization is favored, considerable opposition here is certain. Three out of every four British criminals and institution cases are classified as mental defectives.

The number of mental defectives is growing in the number of mental defectives.

Statistics show that in 20 years the number increased from four to eight per 1,000 of population in England and Wales. Last year the total was 34,000. Of these 25,000 were under supervision in institutions, the remainder being free to marry and have children.

On the question of heredity the committee found conflict of opinion, some doctors holding 80 per cent of mental deficiency being transmitted to children by their parents.

Work of reconstructing the home of Boston's American League team began in October soon after the close of the baseball season. The park was being rebuilt at a cost of about $700,000 in expectation and the reconstructed Fenway would enjoy their best season since 1912.

Trains on the Boston & Albany railroad were halted. Firemen had stretched their hose across the tracks and the thick black smoke settled like a wall on the rail.

FLAME FLAMES THERE

The Seafaring Tire Company plant was one of the first in flames. Walter Murgave of Wollaston and John Morgan of Huntington Ave. were at work there.

"Both of us heard a blast," said Murgave. "Then we saw flames covering the bleachers go up in a big flash of flame. The heat was so bad we ran for the street."

The fire caught onto the building and swept down the avenue towards the railroad tracks. You couldn't see your hand in front of you with that smoke. It was terrible."

As the flames spread, buildings in Brookline Ave. took fire and those in Jersey st. were threatened.

The Fenway Park rebuilding was planned to increase the capacity of the ballpark from 27,000 to 35,000 and it was expected to be completed by April 17 for the season's opening. Arrangements for the use of Braves Field for the Red Sox had been made in case it was not ready.

The wooden stands in left field burned several days ago and never were replaced.

Mary Pickford Hints She May Wed Again

By CORINE HARDESTY
Chicago, Jan. 5 (US)—What this country needs is a school for wives. Mary Pickford said so when she arrived in Chicago today with a brand new New Year's resolution and the same famous smile. She took time to deliver some opinions before settling down to a week of "five-day."

Mary's resolution is to treat herself as nicely as she treats the person she likes best and she declared she would devote the present year to it.

Kindness is sometimes the most devastating and weakening influence," she said. "Wives especially make this mistake. They teach their children to be kind to everyone and everyone depending upon them."

America's Sweetheart said she was looking for a play. "Something clean and wholesome, with plenty of drama and backbone to it."

"Women who cry daily in a low handkerchief don't know what hardship is," Mary said. "I want my play to be about a woman who has the courage to keep her chin up when she has sorrow and disillusionment all around her."

In response to questions about her marrying again after her divorce decree from Douglas Fairbanks became final, Mary said: "I'm too superstitious to say."

Law Balks Heiress After Revenge for Slain Dog

Of course "Big Boy" didn't know it, but a warrant for arrest of the neighbor alleged to have shot him was refused today in Quincy Court.

"Big Boy" was a dog because he was in the big cage at Angell Memorial Hospital, trying vainly to lick through his bandages and tongue the raw bullet wound in his right front leg.

The $1000 Russian wolfhound, owned by George W. White of Braintree, wealthy Boston leather man, was shot last Sunday and has been at the hospital ever since.

Today, Miss Natalie White, her chauffeur, and the family butler went into Quincy Court in an attempt to secure a warrant against a nearby resident, but the complaint was denied on the ground of insufficient evidence.

Officer Wins Vacation

As a reward for chafing and capturing an armed bandit while on duty, Patrolman Edward P. McFadden of the Warren st. station, today was publicly commended and given a three-day vacation by Police Commissioner Huttman.

COLLEGE PRES 5 AS PACIFISTS

Columbus, O., Jan. 5 (AP)—Five Ohio state University students today were expelled from the school by President George W. Nightingale because they refused to attend to an order that they register for military training.

The five are Edward Lepore of Cleveland, Richard Baumgardner of Cambridge, David Telford of Berlin, Donald Leach and Carl Butley of Columbus.

The dampest was made in the face of widespread protest from anti-aircraft and church organizations.

Action is still pending on the case of seven other students, like those dismissed, who were denied exemptions from military training after they claimed to have "conscientious" objection.

In all 31 cases of objectors were heard by a special committee and 15 persons were excused from drill.

Ryan's Old Aid Held as Auto Perjuror

Prof. Charles B. Slocombe, of New York, former expert for the State Department of public works, pleaded not guilty today in municipal court when arraigned on charges of perjury and making a false statement in connection with the registration of auto.

Bail was set at $1,000 and the case adjourned to Jan. 22. Slocombe was approached by an official of the State Income Tax Division. Slocombe accompanied him to the tax office at 40 Court st.

Kaiser's Hunting Lodge Burns

Berlin, Jan. 5 (AP)—Former Kaiser Wilhelm's historic hunting lodge at Seeburgh, north of Berlin, was badly damaged by fire today. Incendiaries were believed responsible.

FLAMES SWEEP SOX PARK

the bulk-Pontiac Co. and the Fenway garage, all in Lansdowne st.

It was one of the "fastest" fires in the city's history and the flames could not be sounded quickly enough to get the apparatus and fire fighters on hand to check it.

Fires were expressed for many of the men at work under the pavilion when the flames broke out. Young men said they had a hard fight to escape and many of the flames were deadly.

Adding to the confusion and danger a 110-foot boom collapsed from the ballpark construction into Lansdowne st., blocking all traffic there soon after the flames began to rage.

The smoke plume was so thick that even firemen had difficulty telling how far the fire had spread. A force of firemen was thrown in front of the huge storage warehouse of Sears, Roebuck & Co. One part of this was said to have ignited.

THE RECEPTION AND TEA GIVEN by the members of the Charlotte Cushman Club yesterday afternoon at the club headquarters at No. 1 Marlborough st. was the usual social and artistic success. . . . In the cheery atmosphere of this fine old mansion a throng of patrons interested in the club, which takes care of the stage girl on tour, greeted Allan Jones, star of the Noel Coward musical treat, "Bitter Sweet," and many other members of the various shows now in town. . . . Mr. Jones will be remembered for his excellent singing of the leading role of the Student Prince last season. . . .

Mrs. Malcolm Bradley French, president, first, last and we hope always, was on hand with her warm greetings for all. . . . her black velvet gown on long lines, slit in the sleeves and down the back, as in fashions decrease, was very smart. . . . her small black velvet toque with tiny veil was very becoming. . . .

A very beautiful chorus girls, assisted at the tea tables serving the dainty sandwiches and cakes to the many guests. . . . and as usual many of the stronger sex we noted in the throng. . . . among them Paul Eaton, David Lee, Bill Brennan, Harrison Crawford, Sam Endicott and others. . . .

Among the Fair Things we noted Polly Cotter, very chic in violet frock which had Paris written all over it and a natty little touch of fuchsia velvet on her bright curls. . . . she was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Richard Cotter, attractive in black with silver foxes and her aunt, Mrs. Charles A. Shea, very youthful in wintry red wool suit with beautiful sable collar, her black velvet belt the last word in chic. . . .

Ellen Bottomley to Take Up Studies

ELLEN BOTTOMLEY WAS SMOOTH as always in turquoise blue blouse costume with black skirt and hat. . . . Miss Ellen confided to us that she is going to settle down to hard work this week by entering the hospital to train for laboratory technician. . . . we are a bit vague as to just what this means but if Ellen is going to do it, you may be sure it is all right and with mother's full knowledge and consent. The Bottomley children are among those who enjoy "minding mother," Mrs. John T. Bottomley. . . .

Which reminds us that we hear that the laboratory is where Mary Barbour met her fiancé, Alfred Kidder, which will result in a wedding next spring. . . . evidently there are all kinds of specimens to be found in laboratories, yes! . . . Mrs. J. W. Johnston of Brookline braved the wintry weather to attend, looking very smart in black with astrakhan. . . . Mrs. Johnston's morning egg-nog parties are rightly famous, we hear.

All Cuddled Up in Mink

MRS. JAMES C. DUANE WAS CUDDLED UP in mink, a pretty woman with gracious manner. . . . we enquired for son Larry and hear he is using up his surplus energy (and he has plenty) in the advertising game. . . .

Mrs. William Gaston poured for awhile at the tea tables, a very distinctive matron and an angel to the Cushman Club. . . . In the popular metallic fabric, Mrs. Charles Francis Adams, Jr., chatted with the guests and members, always on hand to do her bit, and Mrs. Charles Innes, like a robin redbreast, in black dress with scarlet vest, was another well known and popular member. . . .

It was nice to see Mrs. William Brennan and her charming daughter Martha. . . . Mrs. Brennan was using daughter to display a lovely frock which she has just made for her. . . . we are sure if she wished she could do a "rushing" business on simple sports frocks. . . .

In hunter's green, Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, Jr., attended and Mrs. George E. Finlay was lovely in light brown trimmed with Kolinsky. . . .

Busy With Emergency Campaign

MRS. FRANKLIN HOBBS was accompanied by Miss Ruth Poselt, the musical genius on the violin in whom she and Mrs. Alvan Fuller and other society matrons are interested. . . .

We chatted a moment with Mrs. Adolph Leeds, who is so busy with the Emergency Campaign for 1934. . . . she is giving a coffee party on Wednesday at her home in its behalf. . . .

Mrs. Maximilian Agassiz was pouring at the tea table with Mrs. J. M. Harlow. . . . the club has the nice custom of having a number of pourers who are changed every 15 minutes so that everyone has a chance to meet the guests of honor. . . .

Miss Julia Frensdorff, who is very much interested in the Cushman Club and who is usually on hand at these theatrical teas, was greeted by many friends. . . .

Friday Evening Dances Popular

MRS. DOROTHY WHIFFLE FRY like a brown went flitted about here and there. . . . her Friday evening dances at which the young folks have such glorious times have started for the season. . . .

Ada Drewson, undoubtedly histrionically, was glimpsed in red with mink cloak and Mrs. Clara Burrill of the Copley-Plaza attended in the so becoming black velvet afternoon costume. . . .

Chinchilla, so seldom seen these days, was worn by Mrs. William C. Keen over a warm red dress with matching hat. . . . Mrs. J. W. Kendall was among the minks. . . .

Others noted were Mrs. Raymond Loring, Mrs. Herbert Rawls, her vivacious mother, Mrs. Charles Sanborn and Rebecca Hobbs. . . .

Dancing was enjoyed in the Ethel Barrymore room and many of the young group availed themselves of the pleasure. . . .

Dropping in for a moment at the Ritz Bar we noted Mr. and Mrs. Daniel DeMencol enjoying a cocktail before dinner. . . .

MRS. RONALD T. LYMAN AMONG EMERGENCY DRIVE LEADERS

CHARMING MARBLEHEAD BRIDE

MISS BARBARA LOUISE HODGES, popular Junior League and Vincent Club member, who arrived at the Star of the Sea Church in Marblehead, yesterday afternoon, to become the bride of Mr. Thomas Kemphall Dunham of New York. Many entertainments were held on the North Shore last week for the bride couple.

the social whirl

A FEW EVENINGS AGO an informal gathering of young people met in Brookline, a delightful and interesting crowd gathered for a young people's holiday dance. Among those looking especially lovely in her youthful and well chosen evening frock was Miss Martha Pervers in dainty green and white mouseline as sole wearing a coronet of tiny silver stars in her golden hair that was very effective and becoming. She is the daughter of Mrs. Everett Perver of Clyde st., Brookline. . . .

had motored from Cohasset for the occasion. . . . Red seemed to be an exceedingly popular shade with the young folks. Miss Ruth Kibben's dark, good look was offset by a bright holly berry red taffeta. . . . And charming little Jeanette Moore, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George Moore of Brookline, wore a ruby red velvet evening dress fitting her sweet little figure to a nicety. . . .

NO HAM, NO RUM BRITISH TOLD

Washington, Jan. 3 (INS)—Great Britain's refusal to eat more American pork products has resulted in halting the flow of British liquor to this country.

The original liquor quota granted Britain became exhausted several days ago. Now the American trade negotiators are insisting Britain agree to take American pork and ham products in return for an increased quota.

The British government has been notified no more permits will be issued for the entry of foreign liquor until the quota is reached.

Britain is reluctant to agree to the demand because an increase in its pork and ham purchases from this country would conflict with its domestic policy and trade agreements it has with other nations.

Hagan "Donations" Puzzle Somerville Workers

Somerville city employees who planned to pledge contributions to the city welfare fund, were wondering today whether Mayor James L. Hagan was big-hearted or merely a good mathematician.

Mayor Hagan, like Medford's mayor, John J. Irwin, is a representative to the General Court. As Mayor Hagan gets $5000 per annum. As representative he gets $2500, minus 10 per cent for the state contribution.

Citizens were puzzled as to what Mayor Hagan was going to do with the two salaries.

Mayor Irwin who gets $5000 in addition to his state salary, announced that he would establish a fire maternity fund at Lawrence Memorial Hospital for needy expectant mothers.

Mayor Hagan explained a double salary another way. Ten per cent of his salary is minus ($250) will be deducted, he explained.

"I am also contributing $500 to the city, which is as much and possibly more than I will obtain by completing my term as representative," he added, but did not submit his computation.

Mayor Hagan points out that Somerville will benefit by his presence in the Legislature and will avoid expense of a special election if he resigned.

2 Killed, 8 Hurt in Mine Rescue Effort

Eight rescuers were seriously injured by fire which broke out in the mine.

LUPESCU GETS DEATH THREATS

London, Jan. 5 (INS)—Strong parties of guards have been sent to the village of Sinaia, Rumania, following numerous threats to kill Mrs. Maria Lupescu, sweetheart of King Carol, according to the Daily Mail this morning.

King Carol is a frequent visitor at the villa near the royal castle, and telephone Mrs. Lupescu frequently and at all hours, according to a dispatch sent by way of Vienna.

Armed detectives and other guards have been doubled at Sinaia and three companies of Rumanian infantry now are stationed in the vicinity of the castle.

The Daily Mail dispatch says that Mrs. Lupescu is not only being attacked because she is Jewish, but is blamed for King Carol's failure to attend the funeral of the late Premier Duce.

WOMAN HURT AS CAR HITS TRAIN

Foxboro, Jan. 5—Mrs. Harry Ahern of Hoover rd., North Walpole, was probably fatally injured today when an auto driven by her husband crashed into a New Haven freight train at North Foxboro.

Mrs. Ahern was rushed to Norwood Hospital by Police Chief Joseph Dean of Foxboro, suffering from internal injuries and multiple cuts on her head and face. Her name was placed on the danger list.

The crossing was unprotected by gates, but according to railroad officials lights were burning and bells ringing.

Ahern is believed to have been blinded by snow. He was thrown clear but escaped injury.

Faster, Smoother, Smarter Cars Dazzle Auto Show

New York Jan. 5 (AP)—Exhibition cars . . . cars that bend their knees . . . cars that shoot ahead as smoothly as a grape being squeezed out of its skin.

All these and more are being arrayed in all their glory today for the 34th annual national automobile show, which opens tomorrow in Grand Central Palace.

Designers have studied icebergs, snow shoes and tears. The salesmen, exhausting the dictionary, have coined new language to describe the creations, Aero-stream, for instance.

The accent this year is on streamlining. Engineers found that icebergs, moving through water, are round in front, pointed behind . . . like a snowshoe or a fish.

Some cars are built with these lines in mind. Another school of body design favors more familiar uses, but with smart new styling. Everything looks faster, smoother. Lamps, hinges, door handles are streamlined. Spare tires are tucked away where the breeze won't hit them.

U. S. MAY PROBE PLANE BOMBING

Washington, Jan. 5—A Justice Department report, believed to contain an opinion that a bomb placed with murderous intent was responsible for the death of seven persons including Miss Dorothy Dwyer of Arlington, Mass., in an airplane crash near Chester, Indiana, today was given study by federal officials.

Whether federal action will be forthcoming was not immediately disclosed. There were indications, however, that the government might take a hand.

The Center Leaves have the finest Tobacco Quality

that's why only center leaves are used in Luckies

The first thing people see and like about Luckies is how round and firm they are. The tobacco doesn't spill out and there are no loose ends to cling to lips. That's because we pack each and every Lucky full to the brim with long, even strands of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos—only the center leaves. Not the top leaves—because those are under-developed.

Not the bottom leaves—because those are inferior in quality. We use only the center leaves—because they are the mildest and fully ripe for perfect smoking. That's why Luckies always draw easily, burn evenly—and are always mild and smooth. So smoke a Lucky, a fully packed cigarette. And remember, "It's toasted"—for throat protection—for finer taste.

COMMITTEE SEES BIG GAIN BY EXERCISING PRACTICE STRICT ECONOMY

Committee Sees Big Gain by Exercising Practice Strict Economy

An annual saving of $100,000 through the exercise of the option to purchase the Boston Elevated immediately can be effected, the special committee of the Legislature directed to study the street railway problem today reported to the Legislature.

The committee stands four to three for outright purchase.

With two dissenters, the committee voted against changing the present system of assessing deficits and unanimously favored legislation to permit the B to sell electricity to the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway solely for the operation of the Chelsea division.

It opposed sale of power to other public utilities and frowned on proposals to have the B power plants sold to the Edison Co.

$100,000 SAVED

Under the option, the price of the road to the state or the metropolitan transit district would approximate $100,000,000, the report reveals. But to take over the road at once, would not mean that this sum be raised immediately. Rather, public ownership can materialize by the redemption of the capital stock, which at the present time amounts to $22,803,976.

The $100,000 a year saving, it was pointed out, is based on the supposition that approximately $25,000,000 worth of bonds could be sold at a maximum of 4 percent, 1 per cent less than the guaranteed dividend of 5 per cent; and relieving of the road of many items of expense now borne because of its status as a private company.

Among these items enumerated were the Federal income tax, savings in charges for future refunding operations, elimination of the gasoline taxes, reduction on the amount of interest on the borrowed, as well as on claims for personal injury.

The minority group, in dissenting from immediate exercise of the option, stated that its opposition is based on the great amount of money involved and the uncertainty of financial conditions.

URGE STOCK BUYING

The members of this group thought that the cheapest way out for the district would be to give it authority to purchase B stock from time to time at not exceeding $50 to $70 a share and finance it by issuing bonds. The minimum price under the option to purchase the road is about $85 a share.

But even this solution, it was asserted, has so many legal aspects that more study ought to be given it.

Harvard Liberals Ask Huey Ouster

Members of the Harvard Liberal Club turned their guns on Sen. Huey Long of Louisiana today in a telegram to Sen. David I. Walsh of Massachusetts. It read:

"The good government of America and the dignity of the United States demand the immediate expulsion of Sen. Huey Long and his henchman Overton. His nefarious election practices are a threat to constitutional government. Hope you will take a decisive stand on this issue."

Teachers Vote Pay for Somerville Aid

The Somerville Teachers' Bureau has voted almost unanimously to make a voluntary donation of 15 cents of their salaries to the city. The donation will be made to help the mayor and taxpayers lighten the burden which will be caused by welfare expenditures during the present year.

Mrs. Maria Kiduff will wait arm in arm at the head of the grand march at the inaugural ball with Mayor Edward W. Kennedy tonight. For Mayor Kennedy is "my boy" to Mrs. Kiduff. She has been "acting mother" for the new mayor since the death of his mother. Here's Woburn's first lady all torqued out in her inaugural ball raiment. (Boston American photo.)

Only Woburn Inaugural Gem Is 'My Boy, Mayor'

Mrs. Maria Kiduff, Woburn's First Lady, since she is Mayor Edward W. Kennedy's "acting mother," and will tonight, arm in arm with "my boy," the mayor, lead the grand march at the inaugural ball tonight, which will be the cynosure of all eyes.

Chosen by the young man who has mothered since the death of his own mother as his ball companion, Mrs. Kiduff has not only bewitched Woburnites, but will set the fashions with her attractive palms, especially purchased for this choice occasion.

ENVY OF ALL

This is what she will wear—black, transparent velvet gown with long full sleeves caught down at the wrist, and touching the ground all way round with a slight semblance of a train in the back.

At the point of the V neck a rhinestone and emerald clip adds a touch of brilliance. The same rhinestone effect is carried out on a buckle at the waist line—which draws the gown into a form-fitting garment.

Around the shoulders and at the hands will be adorned in white gloves and she will carry a black velvet evening purse.

Smart and distinctive simplicity is the keynote of Mrs. Kiduff's wardrobe and when she marches around the ballroom with the 35-year-old henchman mayor of Woburn, they'll be saying:

"There's a smartly dressed woman for you."

Taxes Nil in This Ritzy Colony by the Sea
60 of Boston's "Exclusive Folk" Live Here

Forget about your Beacon Hill for the tax isle rule that society section far out on the shores of Dorchester Bay is a colony without fear of tax collectors. It's the "jungle" area for those unfortunates who have built a colony out of debris from the municipal dump.

By FRED FERRINS

They're eating beans today—boiled beans without pork—in Boston's "most exclusive residential neighborhood." And all because they, the junkmen, neglected last night to come around.

Izzy is the financial majority of the squatter colony on the big municipal dump near the Dorchester Bay. Just a step from Dorchester Bay, our course led to a 24-hour period, means here, a grocer's cash, in many of the score of more of cinder-block, stove-heated shacks which house the dump's year-around population.

NO PRISON PRIVILEGES

That population, totaling 55 or 60 according to unofficial census figures, was undeniably chained at Izzy's failure to keep his early evening rendezvous.

But, the Mile rd. dump colony doesn't wear its heart, by any manner of means, upon its weathered, stained blue denim jeans.

"It's this way, feller," said "Soldier" Smith, World War veteran and dean of the colony. "We ain't asking nothing of no body, see. We got a place to sleep, here. We work every day and, with what stuff we sell to Izzy, we earn the price of our eats and sundries. We built our own shacks. We're warm and comfortable."

"All that worries us is the well-meaning buttin' that are always trying to do us a favor by kicking us out. They'd rather have us in brackets or on the welfare list than on our own heels, taking care of ourselves."

PICKING FOR COPPER

"So, thanks just the same, we ain't having no publicity. We ain't posing for no pictures and we ain't giving no interviews. Now I gotta be rescued, because I ain't got nobody to do."

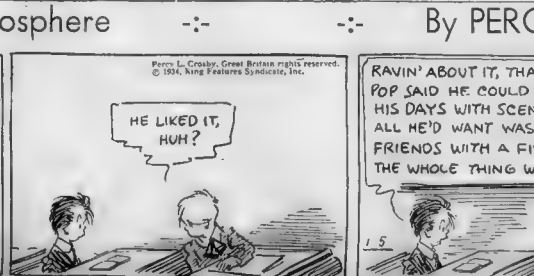

The "Soldiers" chore of the moment was tending a cooking out door blaze. It had been kindled by the ain't asking nothing of no body, see. We got a place to sleep, here. We work every day and, with what stuff we sell to Izzy, we earn the price of our eats and sundries. We built our own shacks. We're warm and comfortable."

PAMPERING FOR CONVICTS IS AT AN END

Charges That Brown Is Back After Quitting During Exposure

The experiment of coddling convicts at the Norfolk State prison is ended as a result of the latest and worst uprising there.

"Hard boiled" treatment and changes in the administration are in order, to restore discipline.

Just how far in the opposite direction the penitentiary experiment will go and in what changes will be made, probably will be decided today at a conference between Gov. Eliot and his former secretary, Commissioner of Corrections Frederick J. Dillon.

GILL'S JOB AT STAKE

But it is rumored that Supt. Howard Gill's job is at stake. His ousting is expected in some quarters.

Coming into Norfolk yesterday convinced him that the situation is serious. Yammering, catcalls and boons greeted him as he toured the dormitories with Supt. Gill after seven men had been ordered into the yard for confinement for their part in the New Year's weekend outbreak.

The commoner's visit didn't end the investigation. He is going to make a tour to investigate new charges.

Amidst these is the report that Thomas Brown, former assistant superintendent, is back living on the grounds of the colony with his wife and child although he is not a convicted felon. He is being assigned ostensibly to accept a position in connection with the new year's weekend outbreak.

LIQUOR SMUGGLED CHARGE

Another charge to be inquired into is that an employee of the colony smuggled liquor into the prison for sale to the prisoners prior to the last outbreak. They were said to have been drinking a concoction of rum, whiskey, and gin. The charge has reached Dillon, it was learned.

Whether Gill's resignation will be accepted by the commission would not be known. Dillon is known to have found a lack of discipline making drastic action of some kind necessary, but it is also known that he is very easy on the superintendent is widespread among employees there.

TARDY CWA PAY CHECKS DE

Mayor Mansfield has assured State CWA Chairman Joseph W. Scutellari that 900 CWA workers in the Boston park department will receive their delayed salary payments today, and that all such payrolls will be met promptly in the future.

The mayor revealed the delay in paying these employees was due to an error in disbursement. He said he had asked city officials to work overtime last night to be certain that all payments were made today.

Fake perfume peddlers are active, according to the Better Business Bureau, which warns that bottles of well known brands are refilled with inferior perfume. But the public, by now, thinks one tastes about as good as another.

The whole trouble is that people, accustomed these many years to experiment and research, just can't take a chance on over-the-counter beverages.

TRENTON, N. J.—In his bid for separate maintenance Florence Denman, 67, charged that her husband, August, greased the kitchen floor so she would fall, and took all the tubes out of the radio.

"But anyway," observes Genevieve, the kitchen cynic, "the financiers of the nation certainly enjoyed the confidence of the people when they had it."

THE MODERN TEMPER
SAN FRANCISCO—An angry woman, Mrs. Lola Douglas, shattered the plate glass window of a liquor store yesterday and was fined, charged with malicious mischief. She explained she was angry because prices were "too high."

Q. AND A. DEPARTMENT.

Dear Thoughtful Aunt Bella:
When my husband and I separated he agreed a written agreement, giving me weekly alimony. But he has defaulted on three payments and I want to know if I'm entitled to collect.

Amused.

Ans:—Maybe your husband is wandering too. Hello.

FILENE BLAMES DOLLAR DRINK FOR U. S. ILLS

Philadelphia, Jan. 5 (AP).—Edward Filene, chairman of the Massachusetts State Recovery Board, and a champion for dollar drinks, today in an address before the American Academy of Political and Social Science, declared that the dollar drink is the cause of the nation's economic ills.

"If the profit system is destroyed by those very business men who have most profoundly in the profit system and are shutting the loudest against individual initiative," he said, "the nation is in danger of its life. Practically all America seems to be holding the President in his great effort to discover the underlying laws governing production and distribution and thus to effect an order in the arrangement of the processes."

OLD FASHIONED
The nation's economic ills are here, he said, because of the dollar drink. He said that the dollar drink is the cause of the nation's economic ills.

Facts It Will Pay Every Person to Know!
A common cold sounds like a trivial thing, but the "Common Cold" yearly, directly or indirectly, takes more lives and causes more illness and more expense than any other ailment to which human flesh is heir.

The sad part of it is that much of the misery caused by colds is due to carelessness or ignorance in treating colds.

A cold, it should be borne in mind, is nothing trivial nor anything to treat lightly.

A cold, as your doctor will tell you, is an internal infection, resulting from a germ attack. In other words, a cold, regardless of the locality of the symptoms, is something lodged within the system.

Everything but the Right Thing!
The failure of many people to recognize the internal or inward character of a cold results in much mismanagement of colds. More often than not, people do everything but the right thing to a cold.

They rub pungent greases on their chests; they inhale singing vapors; they swallow all kinds of preparations which, for seven months of the year, are good for everything but colds and which suddenly become "good" also for colds when cold weather sets in.

Many of these methods are good as far as they go—but the trouble is, they don't go far enough! They don't get at a cold from the inside which a cold, an internal infection, requires. The great danger is that, putting too much confidence in these methods, a cold may progress to the point where it becomes a matter for heroic

FOUR HOURS OF OPERA TO GO ON AIR

Classic Wagner Presentation Tomorrow

In keeping with the pre-conceived plan made known while that of having considerably more of what we call high-brow entertainment into the scene over this year, the first of such steps for 1934 will be taken by the Metropolitan Opera House.

THINE THUMB
Turning this aforementioned opera as "bait" may or may not indicate that some measure of appreciation for the accepted classic is lacking here, but it does indicate that the Metropolitan Opera House is not planning to join any other program in company with George (various kind) Davis, recently removed, a station which was only of the air 25 minutes.

JACK LA RUE GETS FEATURE

Role in "Little Miss Marker"

Lowell Sherman Will Direct Margaret Sullavan in 'Elizabeth and Mary'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Movie picture editor, Edward Selig, has been busy in Hollywood a few months ago. The unhappy person in Hollywood a few months ago was Jack La Rue, who was cast in the miserable and unlovely role of Miss Fane's baby.

"Women and children will hate me," Jack moaned, "I am a terrible baby."

Parsons, however, the picture was pretty apt to be a hit and in fact, it was. The picture was a success and Jack La Rue's role was a success.

Comedy Fast Outpaces the Melodrama of Waterfront on Two Screens

By HARLEIGH SCHULTZ

"Hell and High Water," melodrama film, was given its first showing in Boston yesterday at the Paramount and Fenway, along with "Havana Widows," a merry piece about American gold-diggers laying their enigmatic baggage where not long ago real bullets were flying. For sheer joy this latter picture runs away with the honors on the bill, proving as lightly hilarious a film as eye has caught in some time.

Richard Arlen is supposed to be a sapper and Judith Allen to be an assassin as the heroine. The first picture is by Guy Standing.

Expatriated Money
Waits Buy Signal,
Says Yetman

By FRANK H. MELDON
Financial Editor, Boston American
William T. Yetman, Boston economist, who has many times been abroad, says that the money market is waiting for a buy signal which will come when stabilization makes it clear that the limit of dollar depreciation has been reached, come estimate the amount of expatriated dollars in London about $100,000,000.

Mr. Yetman says he looks for some price over the next few months. He says the dollar is waiting for a buy signal which will come when stabilization makes it clear that the limit of dollar depreciation has been reached, come estimate the amount of expatriated dollars in London about $100,000,000.

By WALL ST. SPECTATOR
BANK AS CHARGE WALL ST. IS TRYING TO WORK UP ANOTHER INFLATIONARY MARKET ON THE GOVERNMENT BUDGET DEFICIT. AT ANY RATE, THE MINING SHAREHOLDERS ARE HERE FOR YETMAN'S LATE RALLY. HOW FAR IT WILL GO, THOUGH, IS ANOTHER QUESTION. SENTIMENT IS FAR FROM UNANIMOUS THAT INFLATION IS INEVITABLE.

In fact, the Street has a calmer view of the budget situation after thinking it over a while.

STERLING DROOP IS PUZZLING

The drop in sterling is puzzling for the per capita debt of England is much heavier than this country. And no one has long seen Britain in a deficit of $100,000,000 pounds.

The President's point on that the budget would be balanced in the fiscal year and his declaration that the needed money would be raised by borrowing don't jibe with inflation.

Of interest in regard to the "orphan" utilities is that Europe is reported to be failing to buy. Suddenly Europe expects the utilities to get a kind of a "bump" because the war is out, even though a major war has never been declared.

Observers say the copper industry is "looking its own goose" by the wrangling over the currency in agreement in the early stages of the negotiations. It is declared that could have been avoided. Now, they say, the best that can be expected is a 2 cent.

The Administration is reported to be a price of the currency in exchange for gold in any currency stabilization agreement.

Grains Are Higher
in Chicago Market

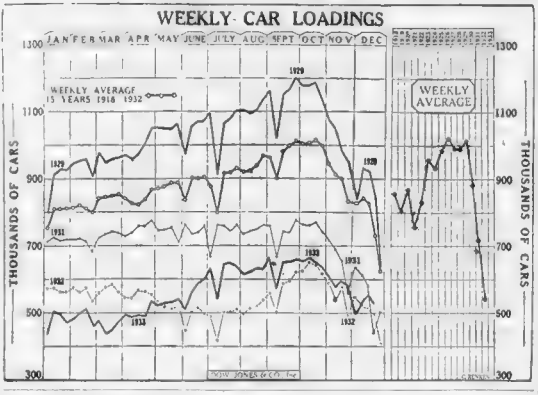

Chicago, Jan. 5.—Grain prices averaged higher today. The market was largely on account of a bullish construction placed on President Roosevelt's statement on grain and on overnight lack of moisture shown in winter wheat territory.

Opening unchanged to 1/4 higher, wheat afterward reacted to a price of the currency in exchange for gold in any currency stabilization agreement.

Corn started at 1/4 off to 1/4 up and subsequently held near initial price.

State Street traders are, for the most part, seeking places on the sidelines. The question here is not the technical background of share markets is not right. This view naturally implies that inflationary prospects are being disregarded for the moment.

At least, this is not as confusing as it sounds. There are good reasons for this. The technical background of share markets is not right. This view naturally implies that inflationary prospects are being disregarded for the moment.

See and Pfefer
Make Boxing and Wrestling Confessions
By AUSTEN LAKE

Some of the lower class characters of wrestling and the prize ring have been overcome with remorse for their old disorderly actions, which border on fraud and are making public confessions which they hope may win some good while damaging certain of their rivals. There is Mr. Leon See, a dim little man who acted as animal trainer and a master to Primo Carnera in lifting him from the lowly position of a street vendor and circus oddity, who is now writing a bold letter, with sniffs of fuchsia, puffing and petty larceny for the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

And there are Messrs. Jake Pfefer and Rudy Miller, ousted members of the New York wrestling circuit, who have been making a snitch to the New York commission about rehearsed bouts and pre-arranged finishes, a business record of bad faith that has caused the commission to subpoena Jim Louder, Toots Mondt, Jack Corley, Dick Shikler and certain other famous artists for appearance next Tuesday.

Mr. See's memoirs do not come out of the blue, and statistics of early thievery, being as how he still has a piece of Carnera, which he hopes to convert to cash through the courts but he ups you a literary lout here and a knowing wink there which leaves the faint odors of fake and malfeasance in the reader's nostrils. Well, Mr. See is a little man with a tooth brush mustache who can fit under the armpits of the unnatural giant, Carnera, which is somewhat taller than the characters of his profession who can, spiritually, at least, pass under the breastbone of a standing duck without missing their hair. So he is careful to tell his readers that he is not writing malapropos which as to contribute to the human, living document of sport which is a high minded motive calculated to light up the moral tones of his readers.

Toots Mondt Recommended an Expose

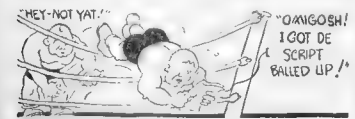

But Mr. Pfefer, who was somewhat brutally unmade by the wrestling trust after giving the best years of his life to that branch of dramatic art, frankly out to do himself some good by doing someone else some bad. Well, this is interesting, because the few wrestlers who have turned righteous after being ousted by the trust have lifted their voices less than lonely cries in the wilderness and have finally faded for want of more breath. So that in calculating the odds of the commission, which are small, without very deep ears to a snitch Mr. Pfefer has done no small feat.

Toots Mondt is being called as a witness for the offense, which recalls the time, some years ago, when he was managing Dick Sheik, then the N. Y. Times' champion and called him into his room at the Hotel Bradford, which was the Elks Hotel, and said, "Now I shatter decent in all forms. So why do you not write a stirring expose of the Sonnenberg cheat for your paper which would be a public service and do your circulation some good?" But all the Toots, who is a blond, jovial person with a face of baby's innocence, could offer was heavy evidence of a libelous nature which amounted to mere taproom gossip.

"Of course you must not quote me or use my name," said he, "because I would not like to be called into court, which sometimes puts a premium on honesty."

Wanted: Men With Good Memories

So it will be nice to see now that Toots has been bailed up, whether he will give up, with abandon to the principles of the rascal and blow the whistle on himself as well as others, because the snarl of wrestling is not so much an unknown to every member of the trade has a few half truths around his own convenience. It is not long ago that Carnera, in petting bankruptcy, explained himself as an exhibit in a prize ring, spectacles, which is how wrestlers are also obliged by law to describe themselves. Of course exhibitions are performed and performed as actors, who play according to scenario scripts and are not accountable to the public for the sincerity or quality of their entertainment. All that is required is that the wrestler memorize his script, so that when the big frantic moment comes, when he must launch himself into his row with a blind foe, he will not go to weaving patterns ad lib with his opponent's arms and legs. Because a dumb exhibitor can cause a promoter's mind of embarrassment, and through fancy rehearsal or forgetting his lines, might give the victory to the wrong man to the real winner of the sport.

But Mr. See, according to his confession, or memoirs, left nothing to Carnera, who was prepared to be sluggish mentally, incapable of learning a libelous, and took all matters of pre-arrangement in his own right hands. These arrangements, which Mr. See describes by inference, are simple matters easily effected with opposing characters who, well close to the spiritual subterfuge which had to do with deft and timely tumbles.

But happily the public is harder to seduce than otherwise and are not subject to quick disillusionment. So I suspect that Mr. See and Mr. Pfefer are practically hollering with their heads in a barrel.

By Jack Kofod

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—From the rich and dramatic tennis background of his remarkable career, Big Bill Tilden today put himself squarely on record as ranking Henri Cochet of France and Norman E. Brookes, the left-handed Australian, No. 1 and No. 2 stars of the game.

Asked to rank the world's best by request, based upon the span of his own competitive career since 1906, plus the combination of tennis genius and stroke production that has made him the "Little Bill" Johnson, no better tennis player than the great ones and professionals alike, here's his

I am writing this column to Jack Kufey, Emperor of the Hammer, who, Shab of the Body Slam and He-Who-Is-To-Be-Obeyed-By-Who, Shant-and-Groom.

I am writing it to him because Jack is a man who never consciously did an unkind thing . . . because his generosity and willingness to help are bywords on Broadway, where these qualities are not so conspicuous.

Jack Kufey, listen:

In your next wrestling show I want you to find a spot for Big Bill Tilden, who was the greatest light-heavyweight boxing champion of all time. I want you to find a spot for the richest man . . . or even reasonably well to do. He doesn't wrestle the small clubs for pittance because of an emotional vacuum, but I

8. "Cochet and Brookes, to my mind, were the greatest of all time and executed more tennis shots than any other pair in the world known. At the same time they were the most unorthodox." — I rank both Lascote and Nusslein as the best of the smashing fistic victories have vanished. He bought Florida bonds and South American bonds. Most of them aren't worth the paper they are written on . . . and the butcher and milkman want their bills paid.

Paul Berlenbach and his wife and three and a half-year-old young son, who is a very cute little boy, are in the States. But it is not clear how they can afford . . . and they'll lose even that unless the one time Ass can afford it.

It is funny. Jack Curley, that I should be talking to you about Paul Berlenbach. He never made money for you. But boxing promoters have been able to make money out of him. I think you should be able to help whenever you can. Give him a few matches and pay him the best money you can. I think he should be paid more than any other people who fairly idolized Paul when he was crashing his way through the States.

It's Like Rocky. Down Like Stick

down on Maryland's Eastern shore, where lynching seems to rage with baseball as the most popular of outdoor sports. Weiner would have liked to get the story done in the summer, but it had gone by as old days have a habit of doing. Berenbach was knocked out by a bad cold, heady liquid, groggy tired that he couldn't get anything done. He took a week off, then after a few days he decided that if he would be whipped by such a fighter as Herman Weirner he ought to get it done.

The decision was wise, but when he found that his investment was of no more value than Confederate paper, he had to find something to do. He had no money, no job, no family, no friends, no way out of work. I rather think he expected the New York Athletic Club to give him a job soon after he got out of the hospital. But Berenbach's most ardent supporters when he was battering his way up the top of the light heavyweight class. Maybe they thought . . . as a matter of fact, they thought . . . that Paul was well fitted for what he was doing, so he took to wrestling.

"Might be the best," a great wrestler, Chuck Curley, I don't know, I haven't seen him work . . . but his reputation as a champion fighter must have got him a break. Will you give it to him?

I remember eight years ago I went to Berenbach go to the Yankto fair success in the prize ring, he started along a new course, bawling his way from the ring to the pulpit.

The Episcopal ministry was among Al's first ambitions. But when he was 24, back in 1928, the call of the retained ring was loud in his ears. Faced with the choice between the assistance of a minister, who wanted to send him to college, and a trainer, who wanted to put him in fighting trunks, Al chose the trunks.

Beautiful Sonia Paige is found hanging from the chandelier in her boudoir by her husband, Randolph Paige, on his return home. Suicide is the verdict by Dicky Carroll, young police man, forced an examination which reveals that "Sunny" had been suffocated and then hung to the chandelier. "Ranny" is vague about his "business" the day of the crime. His employment of Kirk Judson, a private investigator of questionable reputation, leads police to believe he knows more than he will admit. Judson's theory is that a thief tried to steal "Sunny's" diamond and pearl pendant. Inspector Anderson dismisses Judson, but in view of the many angles the mystery has developed decides to let him go.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Someone had built a roaring fire in the library of the Paige home and the officers stationed on duty at the various entrances were making as many excuses as possible to come in and snatch a bit of the warmth.

Inspector Anderson had drawn a table and an armchair up in front of the fireplace and was reading a sheaf of papers as I entered. He said good-morning to me and then seeing that the others had withdrawn in a moment, he laid his papers aside.

"Ray," he said confidentially, "just what do you think about Paige? Do you think that he was enough to justify holding him? I want to know what you think. It is perfectly clear to me that he knows as much as he can tell us about his wife's death."

"And," I answered, "I am sure that he should have confessed to me in the matter of the murder. He was a married man, and particularly young woman, and he was a murderer. He was a murderer, and he was a murderer."

"And," I answered, "I am sure that he should have confessed to me in the matter of the murder. He was a married man, and particularly young woman, and he was a murderer. He was a murderer, and he was a murderer."
